Winter in Manhattan

There are few places more magical than New York City during the winter months. The city is full of activities and beautiful sights that make an excursion well worthwhile.

Among the treasures of Manhattan is the Metropolitan Museum of Art (www.metmuseum.org). Join fellow IAS members and families for an AMIAS Trip to the museum on Saturday, November 10. Visit www.ias.edu/people/amias/trips for more information and to make a reservation.

The famed Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade on Thursday, November 22, can be experienced in person with a quick train ride from Princeton (www.njtransit.com). The parade, featuring marching bands, celebrity appearances, gigantic floating balloons, and Santa's sleigh, is broadcast on television nationwide. Visit www.macys.com/parade for more information.

Strolling through the streets of Manhattan offers stunning views of storefront windows—seek out Apple, Bergdorf Goodman, FAO Schwarz, Lord & Taylor, Macy's, and Saks Fifth Avenue—and public spaces and parks decorated for the holidays. Rockefeller Center (www.rockefellercenter.com) on Fifth Avenue features a massive Christmas Tree, which will be lit on Wednesday, November 28, and an outdoor ice skating rink. Other outdoor ice skating venues include

Ice skating in Bryant Park adjacent to the New York Public Library

Citi Pond at Bryant Park (www.citipondatbryantpark.com), adjacent to the New York Public Library and surrounded by holiday shops, and Wollman Rink in Central Park (www.centralparknyc.org), with a striking Manhattan skyline as a backdrop.

For more ideas about exploring the Big Apple, visit www.nycgo.com. If you are thinking about experiencing New Year's Eve in Times Square, learn more at www.timessquarenyc.org.
